

National Trust for Historic Preservation and The Wilderness Society present
The 100th Anniversary of the Antiquities Act:
A Forum on the Protection of America's Cultural and Natural Heritage for a 2nd Century

Please join policymakers and resource experts for a discussion of the Antiquities Act's hundred-year legacy—and help envision its next hundred years. Our discussion will focus on cultural, historic, and scientific resources protected by the Act and emerging concepts for the protection of these special resources in National Monuments—particularly opportunities created by BLM's National Landscape Conservation System.

Thursday, June 8th 2006, 9 am-noon

Forum Location: U.S. Navy Memorial and Heritage Center

701 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Suite 123, Washington, DC

2 blocks from the green/yellow line metro stop at Archives-Navy Memorial

Open to the public, coffee/pastries provided

Keynote address by Richard Moe, President, National Trust for Historic Preservation

Presentations by and discussion with:

Frank McManamon, Chief Archaeologist, National Park Service

Elena Daly, Director, BLM's National Landscape Conservation System

John Leshy, Professor, University of California, Hastings College of the Law

Jerry Rodgers, The Coalition of NPS Retirees

Sarah Schlanger, Archaeologist, New Mexico State Office, Bureau of Land Management and others

David Franks © Canyons of the Ancients National Monument

Dave Clark © Craters of the Moon National Monument

"This year marks the centennial of the Antiquities Act. If that doesn't strike you as an excellent reason for a bang-up birthday party, you don't realize how important this particular piece of legislation is." -- Preservation Magazine

For more information contact:

Wendy VanAsselt, The Wilderness Society, (202) 429-7431 or

Mike Smith, National Trust for Historic Preservation, (202) 588-6031